

Domna Brouma

Archaeologist - Museologist

Domna Brouma studied History and Archaeology and completed her master degree on Museum Studies in the National Kapodistrian University of Athens. She speaks English and Italian and has worked for the Museum of Cycladic Art as a museum educator. She has repeatedly participated and this year coordinates the educational program for schools in the Archaeology sector's field research and excavation, in Plasi, Marathon. She has also worked for Stegi of Onassis Foundation during the Plasmata exhibition and as an usher for the season's regular program. She loves travelling, detective novels, music and basketball.