Christina Liopeta

Archaeologist - Museum Educator

Graduate of the Department of History and Archaeology of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens and a student of the master's program Child Studies at the Swedish University of Linköping. She has volunteered in programs designed for preschool and early school age and has experience in implementing educational programs and activities in cultural spaces and educational programs through recreational activities, as well as designing programs for all levels of education.